- I suspect... "truth is knowing the exactness of measure... only as fast (further faster) as the art and science develops the idea of measure... this makes possible the notion of exactness... the meaning and potential value of conceptions is to be sought in their practical bearings... the function of thought is as a guide to action... thoughts are like instruments (thought instruments) whose value is determined by the results they produce... insanity is continuing to do the same thing(s) and expecting different results... everything begins as a thought... "all the engineering marvels, medical miracles, scientific discoveries and resulting technological wonders of our modern age were the result of the conversion of resources that have existed since time immemorial... the only difference now is the knowledge, understanding, and wisdom that has resulted from the human quest for it through imagination and experimentation..."

>... and a challenge to attempt to falsify... disprove... what I suspect to be the case... speculative philosophy

- "something believed can just as easily be disbelieved and therefore discarded... the emphasis is thus on falsification, not verification... an invitation to play a game is a process to enable individuals to think critically about a process that is complex... the potential value of the workplay is that individuals experience it... you don't have to persuade anyone... they experience or witness it happen and become certain of it... we learn best through experience... we teach best by example...

- The history of our world is... a history of extinction!
→ sustainability could be considered a long shot!
